In this document, I will be going over all the evidence of a discord member that needs their true colors known. The user known as Andromedead#0932 is a horny loser, a liar, immature, never learns from his mistakes, is power hungry and also defends a guy who has been proven multiple times to be a bad guy.

Behind the scenes, Inverted_Jack and andro have had many arguments, mostly about him being bad at his job as moderator. Any of you who have had to work with him as a head admin will know some of what I'm about to discuss here, because he has not changed in the slightest. Andromedead does not deliver proper punishments to those who have broken rules, if not even laws. He also does not communicate with other staff members, leaving them confused on what is happening and doesn't tell them what they can and cannot do. This has led to false punishments or people not being punished. In the first Broogli Bunch server he said he stepped down but in reality was demoted because of how poorly he did his job as a server moderator. He desperately tried to get his moderator position back and claimed he had learned from his mistakes, which it was obvious he did not. Below is a screenshot of Andromedead asking for moderator back.
